Senior Care and your Pet

Is my pet a Senior?

If your pet is 7 years old or older, we consider him or her senior. Your pet may seem healthy well into its senior years. However, many problems common to senior pets (like kidney and heart failure) may not present symptoms until your pet becomes seriously ill. A comprehensive senior care program helps your veterinarian identify problems early enough to institute preventative healthcare measures.

What Pets should take part in Senior Wellness?

We recommend senior testing for all senior pets as well as any pet who is exhibiting one or more of the following symptoms: weight and loss or gain, increased thirst or urination, lethargy, vomiting/diarrhea, poor hair coat, coughing, seizures, unusual behavior, or overall decline in condition.

Senior Wellness Facts

We use Senior Wellness Programs to promote early detection and treatment of disease, so we can maintain health and prevent illness during your pet's senior years. Early detection of disease often gives us more effective and less costly treatment options. These Programs help establish normal baseline values for your pet, creating a point of comparison for the future.

A Physical Exam is one of the most important parts of the visit. Your Veterinarian will assess all body systems (ears, eyes, mouth, coat, skin, heartbeat, etc.) to be sure your pet has no abnormalities or concerns.

A Urinalysis gives information on kidney function and checks for urinary tract infections.

A Thyroid screen (T4) helps diagnose thyroid disease, which is an especially common ailment in older dogs.

Ear Mite Exam will detect any present ear mites which could lead to a secondary ear infection.

Fecal Test will detect intestinal parasites which could be harmful to your pet. These parasites can be contagious to other pets you may have, and to your human loved ones as well !

Dhlppc vaccine protects dogs from six of their most common diseases. Distemper, hepatitis, lepto, para influenza, parvo and corona vaccine is a combo vaccine that is a "one shot covers all" administration. This vaccine is given annually.

Felv/fvrpc vaccine protects cats from Feline Leukemia and several feline upper respiratory diseases. This vaccine is given annually.

Rabies prevents your pet from contracting the rabies virus which can be fatal to both owner and pet. This vaccine is given annually.

Bordetella vaccine protects dogs from the common and highly contagious disease commonly known as "Kennel Cough". This vaccine is given semi-annually.

X-ray Exam (Radiographs) This is an important and vital part to the senior care program. Generally, we perform chest radiographs to assess the heart and lungs. However, your veterinarian may decide a different set of radiographs would be more important for your pet. For example, he/she could recommend abdominal radiographs to assess the liver or kidneys.
